

HONORING THE BRAVE

Executive Mansion,

Washington, 1863

Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth, upon this continent, a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that "all men are created equal."

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived, and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battle-field of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of it, as a final resting place for those who here have given their lives that the nation might live. This we do, in all propriety do. But, in a larger sense, we can not dedicate—we can not consecrate—we can not hallow, this ground—the brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have hallowed it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, while it can move

On November 19, 1863, President Lincoln gave the Gettysburg Address. In this famous speech Lincoln dedicated a part of the Gettysburg battlefield as a national cemetery "for those who died here that the nation might live."

Design a medal for someone you know who is very brave. Write a few words, on the medal or around it, to make sure everyone understands why you want to honor this person.

"Four score and seven years ago" is how the Gettysburg Address begins. How long ago?

Well, a score equals 20 years. Look at the equations.  $(4 \times 20) + 7$  is the same as  $80 + 7$  so the answer is \_\_\_\_\_!
